

Skiers triggered this avalanche on a north-facing slope near the Anger Lake basin. The crown was 4-18 inches deep and propagated the entire width of the gully ~40 feet and ran the entire length of the gully ~500 vertical feet. The skier was able to ski out of the avalanche right as it broke and was not carried. Photo: Anonymous

Advisory Region
Bridger Range
Longitude
-110.99W

Latitude

45.95N

Avalanche Details: Skier Triggered Storm Snow Avalanche, N. Bridgers
Bridger Range, 2024-04-07