

This large chunk of snow was once perched precariously on the ridge above. As temperatures warm and cornices lose strength they will ultimately release naturally. It's a good idea to avoid slopes beneath large cornices and give them a wide distance along the ridgelines. Photo GNFAC

Advisory Region
Northern Gallatin

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Sat Mar 21, 2015GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Fri Mar 20,

2015

Northern Gallatin, 2015-03-19